TRINITY PRIMARY NEWSLETTER

Dear Trinity families,

We are almost at the end of the first half term already and what a jam packed half term it has been! We have only been back for one half term and we have already done so much; the classrooms are looking amazing, the books are full of learning and there have been lots of school trips that have already taken place. What a terrific start to the year we have had!

We will be starting next week with our Harvest Festival at St Swithuns so please remember to bring your donations to school with you on Monday morning. Early Years and Key Stage One will be going to the church for 9.20am and Key Stage Two will be starting their service at 11.00am. We hope to see you there!

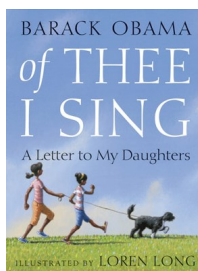

As ever, I wish you the very best of weekends, full of rest and fun, ready for learning on Monday,

Darren Janes

TRINITY ALL THROUGH SCHOOL: LEARNING, LOVING, LIVING

Black History Month

To celebrate Black History Month, during worship we have been sharing books that contain either black lead characters or are written by famous black authors. This week we shared 'Of Thee I Sing' by Barack Obama. The children absolutely loved the book and it was full of extremely powerful messages.

We would like to say a big thank you to Mr Noble who shared this awesome booklist with us!

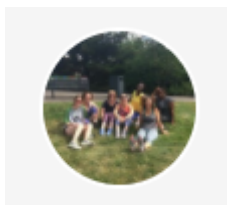

Our chefs cooked up a storm on Wednesday with their special Black History Month menu. Emma's handmade vegetarian patties were out of this world!

Fundraising

Some Trinity mums are running their very first 10k in November to raise funds for sports equipment for the primary school.

To help with their fundraising please go to their Just Giving page:

Social Media

We would just like to remind all parents and carers that the use of social media for sharing photos of children from the school is not allowed.

Also, we would like to remind all users of any group associated with Trinity Primary to be respectful of our inclusive ethos.

We are an inclusive school that welcomes everyone and hope this message is shared by all of our Trinity families.
